

Welcome to my practice. I hope the experience is a positive one for you. To get the most out of counseling, I want to give you some quick tips about what to expect:

- 1. You'll need to fill out this intake packet first. Fill out the information sheet, read the consent form carefully and if you are coming for couples counseling, please sign and have your partner sign the marriage and relationship consent form. Bring any questions that you might have into our first session.
- 2. The credit card payment consent form is attached for your convenience. As I accept debit and credit cards, this option makes it convenient for many clients to pay for their sessions this way, and takes the hassle out of it. I charge for each session after each session is completed. The form also prevents from late cancellations and no-shows, which is discussed in the intake paperwork. We'll create a treatment plan that includes those goals to work on.
- 3. Prior to our session, you may want to write some ideas about the things that you are struggling with and bring those into our first session. Sometimes clients like to put to paper the things that they want to work on. We'll create a treatment plan that includes those goals to work on our first session.
- 4. Our first session is an intake session. Although we will be talking about and highlighting the problems that brought you into counseling, it is not a formal counseling session. Usually, our second session begins the counseling process.
- 5. There is plenty of free parking in the main lot of the Chinese Cultural Center where my office is. You can park in that lot above ground, or there is an underground lot where you can also park. I am located on the third floor at 668 N. 44th St, inside of the Chinese Cultural Center, off of the 202 freeway on 44th St just north of Van Buren. Please check in with the front office staff to notify them of your appointment with Jason.
- 6. On the street level, my office says "East Wing" on the front of the building. It's located in the southeast corner of the Chinese Cultural Center. Don't be misled by the "West Wing" section of the complex, or the medical center across the street. Suite 300 is the entire third floor of my office building, which is large, so please have a seat in the main lobby and I'll come get you. It will get confusing if you walk around looking for my particular room number, so find the lobby first.
- 7. If you have an evening session after 5:00 PM, be aware that the front office staff will not be there to greet you. Please exit the elevator on the third floor, and have a seat in the lobby. I will come to get you after my next session. If you have a 7:00 PM session, please be here 10 minutes early, as the front door locks for security and the elevator stops working. If you get here before seven, it'll be okay.

I look forward to working with you in our counseling sessions together, and please let me know if there is anything I can do to make your experience here in counseling better for you. Congratulations on making the step to get some help.

Informed Consent for Assessment & Treatment

Welcome to my counseling practice. I am committed to getting you whatever your outcome is for our time together. A counseling situation offers a unique relationship between the client and therapist. In order that we start our relationship in a healthy way, I have put together this document to ensure that there are no misunderstandings about the various aspects of the counseling and psychotherapy services.

Background and Services

I am a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) in an independent counseling practice. My credentials include a master's degree in psychology, and I am licensed by the Arizona Board of Behavioral Health Examiners (AZ-11914).

I am a professional counselor in an independent private counseling practice. My credentials include a Masters degree in psychology, and I am licensed by the Arizona Board of Behavioral Health (LPC #11914). Additional information about my background is available on my website at www.phoenixmenscounseling.com.

I offer counseling and psychotherapy services to individuals and couples in the areas of mental health, relationships, adjustment, personal development and career and business issues.

The primary focus of my practice is adults. Clients that present in counseling with active substance abuse dependence, eating disorders, sexually abusive or violent behaviors, severe mental disorders, or certain personality disorders as their primary problem will be referred to other professionals or programs that specialize in these areas.

I reserve the right to refer a client to another therapist or appropriate resource at any time if their needs or desires in therapy are not a good match for my skills or experience.

Financial

Payment is expected at the time the service is rendered unless other arrangements have been made. By signing this document, you are agreeing to pay for the services rendered and any additional expenses that may be accrued in collecting said fees. Currently, the fee for an initial intake and assessment is $150 (a 2-hour couples intake/assessment is $300) and the fee for a 50 minute individual counseling session is $150. The fee for a 50 minute couples session is also $150.

Sometimes, counseling sessions do extend longer than the allotted 50-minute hour, and I charge on a pro-rated basis at that point ($150/hour prorated). If our session is ending at the 50-minute mark, I will ask your permission to continue in our session if we are in the middle of our work together. If you agree to extend the session, I will start charging on that prorated basis from that point on until the end of the session.

In addition to the basic session and assessment fees, there may be other fees for additional services including but not limited to psychometric testing, telephone counseling, books and materials, phone/email conversations with lawyers, doctors, or other professionals, etc These additional services will be billed at the rate of $150/hr., and you are responsible for payment of these fees upon completion of these services. If you have a credit card on file, it will be charged based on the prorated amount. I reserve the right to change my fees with 30 days notice and to use the services of a third-party collections service, when necessary. Refunds are not made after the services have been rendered. You have the right to be informed of all fees that you are required to pay and my refund and collection policies. Please discuss these with me if you have a concern.

Insurance

I am a fee-for-service counselor, and although I do not accept insurance, I will supply you with a superbill (coded receipt) that you can turn into your insurance company so they can reimburse you. You must contact your insurance company to understand the terms of your policy, including out-of-network reimbursement. In all cases however, payment for services is ultimately your responsibility, not the insurance company's. Once again, please discuss this with me if you have questions or concerns about using your insurance.

Your insurance company or managed care company may limit the number of sessions based on their assessment of medical necessity or other factors. Their determination may or may not match what you want or need in treatment. In the event that they will not authorize additional sessions or you exhaust the sessions that your insurance will provide, you understand that you will have to pay for the additional services rendered. You are ultimately responsible for knowing what that limit is.

If you are over 65, or otherwise eligible for Medicare you should understand that Licensed Professional Counselors are not currently eligible providers under this program. Medicare clients are required to pay the fees out of pocket.

Using a third party to pay for the counseling implies that some information will be released in order to obtain payment for the services. Please see the HIPAA NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES for more information.

Availability of services

My practice does not have the capability to respond immediately to counseling emergencies. True emergencies should be directed to the community emergency services (911) or to the local hotlines (Empact – 480-784-1500, Banner Help line - 602-254-4357, Magellan – 602-222-9444). Established clients with an urgent need to make contact may call or email me, but an immediate response is not guaranteed. I do attempt to get back to you by the end of the day, or soon after. A quick or immediate response in one situation does not constitute a commitment of rapid response in another situation. There may be extended lengths of time (days) when I am not available by phone or any other means. If you need a counselor that is readily available, please let me know by our first session so that I can refer you to an appropriate professional.

Appointments

Regular attendance at your scheduled appointments is one of the keys to a successful outcome in counseling. I reserve an hour or more for each appointment with you. Appointments cancelled at the last minute are very detrimental to my practice. Therefore, I ask that you notify me a minimum of one full business day (24 hours, Monday through Friday; weekend calls do not count) prior to your appointment if you need to cancel.

You will be charged for appointments you fail to cancel in accordance with this policy. Currently, the late cancellation fee charged for this is $75 ($150 for a couples intake or for a two-hour individual counseling session). For example, if you cancel your appointment within 24 hours, you will be charged $75 for a late cancellation. If you do not call to let me know you will not be showing up, and then don't show up, you will be charged full fee of $150 for your missed session.

Repeated late cancellations or missed appointments may result in termination of your treatment. I will attempt to talk with you about this problem, and if we cannot fix it, you will be referred to another provider. In addition, if you arrive more than 20 minutes late to an appointment, that is considered a missed appointment, and you will be charged full fee for the session ($150). If you have a credit card on file, I will first notify you by phone or email, and then charge your card automatically using the credit card form you have provided for the session.

If you call or email to cancel your appointment after it has already begun, this will be considered a no call/no-show, and you will be charged and responsible for the full fee of $150 for the missed session. Please note that these are personal financial obligations that you are responsible for, not the obligations of your insurance company. Appointment availability varies with the client load at the time. High demand appointments (off hours, late afternoons, evenings) are likely to be sporadic in their availability. I reserve the right to limit my commitments of high demand appointment times to any particular client in order to meet the needs of all my clients and balance my workload.

Privacy, confidentiality, and records

Ordinarily, all communications and records created in the process of counseling are held in the strictest confidence. However, there are numerous exceptions to confidentiality defined in the state and federal statutes. The most common of these exceptions are when there is a real or potential life or death emergency, when the court issues a subpoena, or when child/elder abuse or neglect is involved. I am legally obligated to disclose confidential information about you if there is a threat to or harm to yourself or to someone else, or if you are homicidal or suicidal. I have the obligation to protect my clients' safety and the safety of others.

I also participate in a process where selected cases are discussed with other professional colleagues to facilitate my continued professional growth and to get you the benefit of a variety of professional experts. While no identifying information is released in this peer consultation process, the dynamics of the problems and the people are discussed along with the treatment approaches and methods.

It is important to be aware that I use a number of electronic tools in my practice, including computers and the Internet, email, PDA, fax machines, telephones, and a cell phone. I may use these tools to store or communicate information about you and your treatment. While reasonable backup, security, and other safeguards are in place, there is always some risk of inadvertent disclosure of information that comes with using these tools. By signing this informed consent, you agree to accept the risk of disclosure that comes with tools that I use in my practice.

You have the right to obtain a copy of your therapy record. You must first submit the signed and dated request in writing to your therapist, and schedule time to review your notes with your therapist. The therapist will go over and discuss the notes first with you in session prior to releasing them to you. You will be charged the regular hourly rate of $150/hr. for time the therapist spends reviewing your records with you, and then you will be given your treatment notes or file.

In the event of my death, retirement, or incapacity, the records for my clients that are actively receiving services (seen within the last month) will be given to a local behavioral health professionals to facilitate the continuation of treatment. My colleague is Dr. Leanne Grant, who can be reached at 520.591.3618. In such a situation, you have the right to continue treatment with this professional, discontinue treatment, or ask for a referral. Records for my inactive clients will be handled by a "records custodian," which may be an individual or company. The custodian will be responsible for satisfying records requests and destroying records when the legal timeframes for records retention are satisfied.

Initials

I have read the HIPAA NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES, and have had my questions about privacy and confidentiality answered to my satisfaction. I understand that the HIPAA NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES is incorporated by reference into this agreement.

Purpose, limitations, and risks of treatment

Counseling, like most endeavors in the helping professions, is not an exact science. While the ultimate purpose of counseling is to reduce your distress through a process of personal change, there are no guarantees that the treatment provided will be effective or useful.

Moreover, the process of counseling usually involves working through tough personal issues that can result in some emotional or psychological pain for you. Attempting to resolve issues that brought you to therapy may result in changes that were not originally intended.

Psychotherapy may result in decisions about changing behaviors, employment, substance use, schooling, housing, relationships, or virtually any other aspect of your life. Sometimes a decision that is positive for one family member is viewed quite negatively by another family member. Change will sometimes be easy and swift, but more often it will be slow and even frustrating. There is no guarantee that psychotherapy will yield positive or intended results. In the case of marriage and family counseling, interpersonal conflict can increase as we discuss family issues. Of course, the potential for a divorce or breakup is always a risk in marital or couples counseling.

I practice Gestalt Therapy and Emotionally Focused Couples Therapy counseling styles. In Gestalt Therapy, I use experiments in our counseling sessions, such as the empty chair technique, which may bring up emotional or psychological pain for you, the client. In both approaches to counseling, I want to communicate that sometimes working through these painful experiences can be difficult, and you have the right to communicate your wish to discontinue treatment if the counseling becomes too overwhelming for you at any time.

In most cases, one or more mental health diagnoses will be rendered during the process of assessment and treatment. Some diagnoses may affect employment in high security or safety sensitive positions or affect your ability to obtain future insurance.

Treatment process and rights

Your counseling will begin with one or more sessions devoted to an initial assessment so that I can get a good understanding of the issues, your background, and any other factors that may be relevant. When the initial assessment process is complete, we will discuss ways to treat the problem(s) that have brought you into counseling and develop a treatment plan. You have the right and the obligation to participate in treatment decisions and in the development and periodic review and revision of your treatment plan. You also have the right to refuse any recommended treatment or to withdraw consent to treat and to be advised of the consequences of such refusal or withdrawal.

Termination of Counseling. I want you to know that one of my policies is to support all termination, for whatever reason. When you are ready to leave, I would like to help you leave well. Here are my suggestions to make that happen. Communicate with me that you feel you are ready to end counseling, and we will meet for a closure session, or a final session to review what has worked in counseling for you, and what issues might need more attention in the future. There will be no hard feelings about ending counseling if you choose to discontinue treatment. If you need referrals elsewhere to other providers, I can provide you with those as well. Let's talk about that in our closure session when you're ready to end treatment.

Litigation considerations. If you become involved in the legal system (divorce, custody, civil litigation, criminal activity, etc.) you can expect that I will not make recommendations, testify, or get otherwise involved in your legal activities. It is an inherent conflict of interest for a treating professional to also offer evaluations or opinions in legal matters. If a client has these expectations, it can affect their willingness to disclose personal information vital to treatment. I do, however, have an obligation to comply with court orders, and will do so if requested by the courts. If you need an evaluation for the legal reasons, I will make a referral to an outside, unbiased professional who can perform this service. In signing this agreement, you agree that you will not call me as a witness to testify or to expect recommendations or other involvement in your legal activities.

Our relationship

The client/counselor relationship is unique in that it is exclusively therapeutic. In other words, it is inappropriate for you (the client) and I (the counselor) to spend time together socially, or to bestow gifts. The purpose of these boundaries is to ensure that you and I are clear in our roles for your treatment and that your confidentiality is maintained.

Furthermore, trust is an essential part of the therapeutic relationship. If there are situations that arise that compromise this trust, I will first talk about the situation with you in our counseling. If the situation cannot be resolved, I reserve the right to discontinue therapy and refer you to another provider that can help you. Maintaining proper boundaries with the therapist is essential to the counseling process; such examples of compromised boundaries include, but are not limited to, seeking rental or office space in the suite in which I currently practice.

If there is ever a time when you believe that you have been treated unfairly or disrespectfully, please talk with me about it. It is never my intention to cause this to happen to you, but sometimes misunderstandings can inadvertently result in hurt feelings. I want to address any issues that might get in the way of the therapy as soon as possible. This includes administrative or financial issues as well.

Consent for evaluation and treatment

Consent is hereby given for evaluation and treatment under the terms described in this consent document and the HIPAA NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES. I acknowledge that I have received a copy of this informed consent agreement and the HIPAA NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES. It is agreed that either of us may discontinue the evaluation and treatment at any time and that you are free to accept or reject the treatment provided. In the case of a minor child, I hereby affirm that I am a custodial parent or legal guardian of the child and that I authorize services for the child under the terms of this agreement. All disputes related to this Agreement shall be resolved exclusively in a court located in Maricopa County, Arizona. This Agreement and all disputes shall be governed by Arizona law. The non-prevailing Party shall be responsible for the prevailing Party's attorneys' fees and any other costs related to resolving the dispute.

This Notice Describes How Health Information About You May Be Used And Disclosed And How You Can Get Access To This Information.

Please Review It Carefully. The Privacy Of Your Health Information Is Important To Us.

What is HIPAA and PHI?

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) permits the release of PHI (Protected Health Information) without patient authorization for purposes of treatment, payment and health care operations. However, the HIPAA Privacy Rule requires that providers make reasonable effort to disclose only the minimum amount of PHI that is necessary for these purposes.

PHI is any individually identifiable health information relating to a patient's past, present or future physical or mental health and related health care services. PHI may include demographics, documentation of symptoms, examination and test results, diagnoses and treatments.

Written authorization is not needed to send copies of a patient's medical records to a specialist or other health care provider who is treating him or her. Providers are allowed to disclose PHI to primary care managers and other health care providers for treatment purposes. PHI may also be disclosed without the patient's authorization in a medical emergency to provide the necessary treatment.

Our Legal Duty

I am required by applicable federal and state law to maintain the privacy of your health information. I am also required to give you this Notice about my practices, my legal duties, and your rights concerning your health information. I must follow the privacy practices that are described in this Notice while it is in effect. This Notice takes effect April 14, 2003, and will remain in effect until I replace it.

I reserve the right to change our privacy practices and the terms of this Notice at any time, provided such changes are permitted by applicable law. I reserve the right to make the changes in my privacy practices and the new terms of our Notice effective for all health information that I maintain, including health information I created or received before I made the changes. Before I make significant change in our privacy practices, I will change this Notice and make the new Notice available upon request.

You may request a copy of my Notice at any time. For more information about our privacy practices, or for additional copies of this Notice, please contact me using the information listed at the end of this Notice.

Uses And Disclosures of Health Information

I use and disclose health information about you for treatment, payment and healthcare options. For example:

Treatment: I may use or disclose your health information to a physician or other healthcare provider providing treatment to you.

Payment: I may use and disclose your health information to obtain payment for services I provide to you.

Healthcare Operations: I may use and disclose your health information in connection with my healthcare operations. Healthcare operations include quality assessment and improvement activities, reviewing the competence or qualifications of healthcare professionals, evaluating practitioner and provider performance, conducting training programs, accreditation, certification, licensing or credentialing activities.

Your Authorization: In addition to my use of your health information for treatment, payment or healthcare operations, you may give me written authorization to use your health information or to disclose it to anyone for any purpose. If you give me an authorization, you may revoke it in writing at any time. Your revocation will not affect any use or disclosure permitted by your authorization while it was in effect. Unless you give me written authorization, I cannot use or disclose your health information for any reason except those described in this Notice.

Your Authorization: In addition to our use of your health information for treatment, payment or healthcare operations, you may give us written authorization to use your health information or to disclose it to anyone for any purpose. If you give us an authorization, you may revoke it in writing at any time. Your revocation will not affect any use or disclosure permitted by your authorization while it was in effect. Unless you give us written authorization, we cannot use or disclose your health information for any reason except those described in this Notice.

To Your Family and Friends: I may disclose your health information to you, as described in the Informed Consent for Assessment and Treatment section of this Notice. I may disclose your health information to a family member, friend or other person to the extent necessarily to help with our healthcare or with payment for your healthcare, but only if you agree that I may do so.

Persons Involved In Care: I may use or disclose health information to notify, or assist in the notification of (including identifying or location) a family member, your personal representative or another person responsible for your healthcare, of your location, your general conditions, or death. If you are present, then prior to use or disclose of your health information, I will provide you with an opportunity to object to such uses or disclosures. In the event of your incapacity or emergency circumstances, I will disclose health information based on a determination using my professional judgment disclosing only health information that is directly relevant to the person's involvement in your healthcare. I will also use my professional judgment and my experience with common practice to make reasonable inferences of your best interests in allowing a person to pick up filled prescriptions, medical supplies, or other similar forms of health information.

Marketing Health Related Services: I will not use your health information for marketing communications without your written authorization.

Required By Law: I may use or disclose your health information when I am required to do so by law.
